RUSSIANS GRADUALLY AP-PROACHING PLEVNA WORKS---POSITIONS OF TROOPS-THE TURKS' AMMU-NITION FAILING.

Russian Position in Schipka Pass Precarious--Reinforcements to the Army Before Plevna

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Times' mili-tary correspondent at Gorney Studen, telegraphs that he has personally inspected the position before Plevna which e describes as follows : "The Russo-Roumanian army occupies a line extending from Grovitza to Tatchenitza. At Gravitza the Roumanians have advanced by sap, to within twenty-five yards of the second redoubt, which will probably fall in a few days. Further to the left from Gravitza is Kordueners' corps which has been reinforced since the battle by parts of two divisions from Russia, next stands Zataffs' corps, fearfully reduced in numbers, one battalion being brought down to three hundred men. On the extreme left near Zatchnitza, is Jurretinsraya's detachment namely the second division and fourth rifle brigade, the latter has diminished from four to two weak battalions. Here are also remains of Skobeleffs' detachments. The spirit and temper of the Russian troops are ad-

The Russians have upwards of 320 guns and are constant.y firing on Turkish works, which scarcely ever reply.

It is said the ammunition of the Turks is failing but there are no means of verifying this. They walk about the redoubts most unconcernedly.

The Russians are strongly intrenched all along their front, with sheltered trenches, rifle pits and redoubts. Twelve or sixteen regiments of Russian and Roumanian cavalry are hovering about the Sofia road to impede if they do not wholly stop communication between the Turks.

The Turks refused Zatoff leave to bury his dead which lie within three hundred yards of the Russian positions and must breed disease.

The Dady News' Bucharest correspondent telegraphing Tnursday says it is confessed, that the Russian position in Schipka Pass is precarious both because of the force threatening it, and of impending trouble to communication. The Times correspondent at Gorney Studen says, it is estimated at Russian headquarters that the Turks lost 2,000 men in the late attempt to capture Fort

The following special to Baltimore is monderfully truthful: "Mr. Stanley Matthews is evidently going a little too far when he makes, as in his discussion with General Ewing, so plump and comprehensive a denial of the fact of his negotiations last winter with prominent Southern leaders. There are hundreds of witnesses to the fact that Mr. Matthews repeatedly sought out Southern Congressmen and others at the Capitol, and others at the hotels, and urged them to allow the electoral count to proceed, and assured them that everything would be made right for the South.

Answer to McMahon's Manifesto

Paris, Sept. 21.—An address to the Nation, signed by a number of Parisian and Provincial candidates for Chamber of Deputies and representatives of all shades of Republicanism, is published. It replies point by point to President MacMahon's n anifesto. The following is the concluding passage: "Your duty will increase with the audacity of those who presume to impose themselves on France. You cannot become the instruments of clericalism. The republic must have republican functionaries and the country expects order, peace and sta-bility through the republic.

Marine Disaster--Loss of Grain Boston, Sept. 21.—A special dispatch from Montreal says: "Intelligence has been received there from Salimanca, N. F., that the British steamship "Row-land," Capt. Swaffer, which sailed from Montreal on the 11th inst. for Queenstown with a valuable cargo of grain, was stranded on Holyrood beach. The captain thinks the vessel will be a total loss, but a part of the cargo may be saved. She had on board 60,000 bushels of wheat, 20,000 of which were in bags. The vessel is insured in England and the cargo in American offices.

Russians Reported Falling Back From Plevna--Renewal of the Attack Doubtful.

Comparison of Russian and Turkish Soldiers.

LONDON, Sep. 21 .- A Daily News correspondent who was present at the bat-tle of Plevna telegraphing from Bucharest, Sept. 17th, says: The Russo Rou-manian army has abandoned now even a pretense of prosecuting an attempt against Plevna and fallen back into po-sitions occupied before the commencement of the bombardment. The field artillery remains still in the same positions of the bombardment. It is annouced that a third renewal is intended on the arrival of the Imperial Guard in a fortnight. I have great doubt whether another attempt will be made. A very much stronger doubt is whether if made it can succeed. The Turks are better soldiers individually than the Russians. Of the tofter contract of the state of the s Of that after seeing not a few battles I stand assured. In the strategy of both major and minor tactics the Turks are simply immeasurably superior. They are better armed than the Russians both in great and small arms. They have engineers who can design admirable defensive positions the Russian en-gineers seem incapable of repairing a hole in a bridge. The Turks seem as well provisioned as the Russians and are flushed with success.

The planters had just commenced picking cotton and had not hauled the corn and fodder from the nelds. It is estimated that 30,000 bales of cotton have been destroyed. Most of the planters are ruined and it is doubtful if the actual necessaries of life can be secured new. The town of Tuscaloosa is about at the head of the devastated section.

of Crazy Horse.

[National Republican ] The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received a letter from the Indian agent at Camp Robinson, Nebraska, giving a detailed account of the killing of Crazy Horse. The letter states that Crazy Horse was remarkably brave, generous and reticent—a pillar of strength for good or evil. He had a wonderful influence over young braves and chiefs. Every effort was made to secure his in uence in preserving the peace, but failed. He would listen to no reasoning which did not have for a basis the placing of himself and people in the Northern country to roam at large. He had become so vicious that upon General Cook's arrival at Camp Robinson he told his men to go to the council prepared for a fight, as he intended to kill General Cook, which calamity, however, was averted by one of the Indians, who informed the agent of the contemplated murder.

An account of the disbandment of Crazy Horse's followers by the scouts and soldiers has been already published. Crazy Horse fled, but was pursued, captured and brought back to the agency. Upon his arrival there he was told that he would be compelled to give up his arms and pistols. This he refused to do, and, although surrounded by scouts and soldiers, he attempted to cut his way out, stabbing "Little Big Man." who had hold of him, in the arm. In the scuffle he was himself wounded, and from the effect of the wound died at 11:40 that night. He said he was stabbed by the bayonet of a soldier, but the doctor who examined his wound thinks that it was caused by his own knife. The Indians express relief at his death, and say that, besides those whom he had slain in battle, he had with his murderous hand, killed thirty-four white men and four women. The affair at first created a great deal of excitement among the Indians, but it has since died

The Great Cotton Mill Strike in

England. Washington, Sept. 19.—The United States consul at Liverpool informs the Department of State that the operatives in the cotton mills of Bolton and vicinity, to the number of 10,000 to 12,000, struck on the first of the present month rather than submit to a reduction of 5 per cent. in their wages. One hundred and six mills are closed in consequence. It is stated that the men are in a good financial condition to continue the strike, and that large contributions will be supplied by other a sociations. These operatives struck also in 1874 against a reduction of 5 per cent., but submitted to arbitration, which decided against them. The 5 per cent. was, however, restored in 1875, and the present strike is occasioned by the attempt to take it off again. Unless arbitration is again resorted to the present strike is likely to prove a stubborn one, for while the men assert their ability to re-main out an indefinite time the mill owners, on account of the continually decreasing American markets for their pleased to have their places closed for some time.

Detailed Account of the Death | The "Lost Art" Recovered.

Gslen, the most celebra ed physician, flourished in the second century. His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy. His cures were so marvelous that he was accuse of magic.
His mighty skill and success silenced his enemies, and his opinions held sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the chouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of Vegetine, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood-purifier and health-restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himsetf.

VEGETINE

NOANE, CONN., Nov. 11, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, FSQ:—

lear Sir: Thinking that a statement of my case may meet the eye of some one suffering from Scrofula, I beg you to publish the following, which I cheerfully furnish of my own free will.

I have been afflicted with Sc fulons Humor from my birth, and at times very larger of the dispits appearance on my head, and deemed advisable to have the half shared, but they were obliged to cut it off with embroidery scissors, as my head was so sore I could not have it shaved. After we had sueceeded in healing the sores on the outside, they broke, but on the inside, causing me great pain. There have been times when the surface of my hands was all raw from the effect of this humor, and no pen can describe the great suffering I have endured.

About three years ago small kernels made their appearance on the chords of my neck, several of which grew into quite large tumors, and nothing which we could use would remove them. My whole system was so full of scrofulous humor that it seemed ready to burst through the skin at all parts of my body, and I was in a terrible weak and feeble condition. The tumors on my neek had grown to such a size as to disfigure me badly. When in this hopeless condition I was advised by a friend to try the Vegetine, and I at or ce commenced taking it, and after I had used a short time the tumors commenced discharking, and I do not think I overestimate the quantity from each tumor when I say that a good-sized teacupful of corruption ran out, after which they commenced to heal up and disappear, and now my neek is as smooth and free from bunches as any lady's.

1 believe the Vegetine has entirely cleansed appear thin to scrofule from my wystem and as smooth and free from ballets lady's.

I believe the Vegetine has entirely cleansed every taint of scrofula from my system, and I desire t have this statement published, so that other sufferers may find relief, as they surely will do, if they try the Vegetine.

It will afford me pleasure to give any further information relative to my case to all who will call or address me.

VEGETINE.

PRINGF: ELD, ME., May 14, 1872. MR. H. R. STEVENS;
Dear Sir: My daughter has been out of health for about two years. About a year ago she had a tumor come on her side which was very painful.

I saw Vegetine advertised in the Farmer, and sent to Bangor and got two bottles. he is now taking the second bottle; her health is much improved, and the tumor is going away as fast as it came. Every one in this vicinity knows what Vegetine has done for my daughter, and I take every opportunity to recommend it to those who are not aware of its great value.

Dear Sir: I have been troub ed with Caneffect until Tirica your vegenne: where the ing a few doses I found it relieved the faintness at the stomach that always accompanies Canker Humor; and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured.
Have not been irou led with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effect.

Yours truly,
P. S. SHERMAN.

Frost has made its appearance some places in the mountains.

The worms are destroying cabbage and pollards, (coleworts) in the Tarboro

Tarboro has the poorest beef and sells it higher than any place in the State, says the Southerner,

Three bears have been captured and killed within four miles of Trenton, Jones county, this season.

A correspondent of the Salisbury Watchman calls for a Teacher's Association for Rowan county.

Tarboro Southerner: First Lt. J. L Bridgers, Jr., of Edgecombe Guards has been appointed Ass't. Quartermaster of the 1st. Battation N. C., State

ing in several sections of the State. Our exchanges announce a number of deaths from the disease, and there seems some places to be no abatement.

Mr. Elisha Seago went out the other night as he thought to shoot an owl, says the Pee Dee Bee, and 'blazed away.' When he found out the effects of the shot, there was a dead mule with a "buck load" between its eyes.

The Jones county correspondent of the Duplin Record says, the cabbage worms are destroying the gardens in and around Trenton. In some gardens all the cabbages are eaten except the Tarboro Southerner: The county Commissioners of Pitt have appointed Mr. Guilford Moring Sheriff, and Mr. Cox Tax Collector of that county. Sheriff Wilson having absconded, hence the appointment of Mr. Moring. Mr.

Wilson is a defaulter for about $7,000. Favetteville Gazette: In our advertising columns Capt. Williams issues an order to the LaFayette Light Infantry to appear at their armory on Friday (yesterday evening,) at 7:30 o'clock, at which meeting definite arrangements will be made for the trip to the State

Magnolia Record: Miss Jane Carter, who resided near Clinton, committed suicide a few days since. It is not certainly known for what reason she was urged to this terrible crime. She resorted to laudnum to accomplish her purpose, and lived only a short time

The Tarboro Southerner says, we are informed by L. Thomas, Esq., that he will commence the publication of a newspaper in the town of Greenville, Pitt county, N. C., on or about the 10th of October next, to be called The Greenville Express. Mr. Thomas is well known to us. He is a good practical printer of long experience.

A. L. Durgin, a machinist from Maine. says the Charlotte Odserver, accompanied by nine other young mechanics, passed through that city, Wednesday, en route for Columbus, Ga., where they go for the purpose of putting up the machinery in the addition to the Eagle & Phenix cotton factory, already one of the largest in the South.

Charlotte Observer: Eleven car loads of cattle passed down the Western North Carolina Railroad yesterday to Salisbury, from which point they were shipped by way of the North Carolina Railroad. Most of these cattle are being sent to Virginia. This is the second train load which has been shipped from the Western part of the State within the last few weeks.

Magnolia Record: The members of the Sampson County Agricultural Society, have decided to have a fair this winter, if the proper arrangements can be made. The Society is in debt $500 by mortgage. If this can be paid in any manner, a Fair will be held. Mr. King Pigford has been elected President, and we have no doubt he will devise some means to raise the mortgage.

The charge of Judge Cloud to the grand jury of Alexander is said to have eclipsed anything Sol Smith Russell could produce in the way of mirth-provoking recitation and delineation. The difference is, with Russell it is a work of art, but His Honor does it naturally. Since Greasy Sam has engaged in the insect killing business Cloud is left without a peer in his line on the N. C.

We are pleased to learn, says the Wilmington Review, that the North Carolina Medical Journal an ante-bellum publication of much value and interest to the profession in this State, is to be revived and that the first number will appear in January next. It will be under the conduct of Drs. M. J. DeRosset and Thos. F. Wood and this fact alone will be taken as an excellent guarantee that the publication will prove true to its avowed mission.

A spotted fawn will be given to the dearest little woman at the Hawkinsville, Ga., fair. "Stonewall" Jackson's widow is visiting Mrs. Margaret J. Preston, the poetess, at Lexington, Va. A writer in the Petersburg Post, speaking of the battle of Reams' Station, attributes the glory of the action to Gens. Cook's and McRae's North Carolina Brigades, two of the finest in the army. The authorities of Columbia, S. C. last week, would not allow ex-Senator Owen to be interred without first opening the coffin in which his remains had been brought from Baltimore and identifying them.

Two colored militia companies at Ebenezer, Darlington county, S. C., have been disbanded for disobedience; and a portion of them resisting, have been put n jail. Another company, at Abbeville, has been disbanded for inbellous remarks by the Captain respecting the State Government.

Richmond Enquirer: The United States steamer Pinta: carrying two guns, arrived here yesterday on a surveying expedition to select a suitable station in fresh water for the monitors. The officers report that they have found several stations which answer every requirement on the James river, but what point they will ultimately select has not transpired.

REFORM. The Democratic Party fought and won the battle of 1876 on the cry of Reform. "Reform" was on the lips of every Democratic speaker; it was the slogan of every democratic candidate; it blazed through the columns of every demogratic newspaper; it was the song of every democratic meeting; the burden of every Democratic resolution; the key-note, in fact, of our entire campaign, from one end of the land to the other-in every State, county, town-The diptheria is reported as prevail-by it? That Republicans only should reform; or that reform should take place wherever there is extravagance, corruption or malfeasance in the administration of public affairs, whether such wrong doing is committed by Democrats or Republicans? We believe that the latter is the true meaning of the word Reform. The Charlotte Observer evidently coin eides with us in this view. It says: "We do not believe in shielding wrong-doers because they happen to be-long to one's political household; Democratic papers should be just as swift to denounce Democratic as Republican frauds, and this should be done without egard to "harmony at the centre" or to anything else. The News is doing public service and it deserves credit for speaking its mind on these subjects.'

And the Wilmington Star says: "The eyes of the people are not sealed and they will demand greater fidelity and a more scrupulous honesty on the part of Democratic office-holders than were ever exacted before, and simply because of the incompetency, venality and neg-lect of former officials. Our party has promised much, and there is much to be done. The rule should be invariably observed-put none but honest and capable men on guard.'

We are confident that the entire democratic press of North Carolina, the grand lever power in the cause of good government, entertains similar views as to the duty of the Democratic press against wrong-doers within our own political fold. The News has acted on this conviction of public duty, in bringing democratic malfeasance to light. It has done so in sorrow rather than in anger. We deplore the necessity that compels us to uncover the ugly spots on the body politic. It is no pleasant task. But pleasant or unpleasant it should be done; and it shall be done with an unflinching hand-in mercy, however, rather than in wrath. Did we fail to perform our duty in this respect we would be unworthy the confidence of the public; and would deserve to be written down as no better than the Republican press, which shielded to the extent of its limited powers the mismanaged affairs of the country, and plundered the treasuries from 1868 to 1877. If there be power in the Democratic press, the people's money shall be handled honestly; or the people shall know the reason why.

THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN IN

The Baltimore Sun says, frightful as the carnage was in Plevna, Russia played for a desperate stake and lost it. The first repulse before those earthworks, serious as it was, created, as we now learn, so many murmurs of the Russian people, among whom there has been for some years past a good deal of latent dissatisfaction, that a second assault upon Osman Pasha's lines with all the forces that could be brought against them became a matter of necessity. To make assurance doubly sure a considerable part of the Roumanian reinforcements were added to those of the Grand Duke, and confidence was felt that the assault would be successful and Osman Pasha surrounded and forced to surrender with all his command. His situation was compared to that of Napoleon III. at Sedan. Instead of a vicpoleon III. at Sedan. Instead of a victory for the Russian arms their failure at all points has been most signal, and never in the wrong. It is the politician, who, groping within himself for undiscoverable elements of popularity, stum-

of the three redoubts captured only one is still held, and that one of the least importance. The two others were retaken by the Turks within twentyfour hours after they had been driven out of them. The capture of the latter and the subsequent loss cost the Russians at this point alone of the fleld of battle six thousand men and many of their bravest officers, the division of Scobeloff being, by his own admission, almost annihilated. Thus matters, instead of being better, have been made worse than before. The campaign, to the astonishment of many, who had a traditional belief in the power of Russia and in the weakness of the Turks, has been to the former a succession of disasters. After opening brilliantly with the almost bloodless crossing of the Danube, the capture of Nikopolis, the bold movement of Gen. Gourkha across the Balkans by way of the Hankoi Pass into Roumelia, and his seizure of the Shipka Pass when driven back again, reverses have followed reverses until the situation is entirely changed, and the utmost the Russians can now expect to do is to fortify the line of the Danube from the mouth of the Yantra to some point above Nikopolis, and stand on the defensive through the winter. There is a bare possibility that with the reinforcements now arriving, and among them that magnificent body of troops, the Imperial Guard, they may recover some part of the ground they have lost within the seven weeks yet remaining to them before winter sets in. But the autumn rains in Bulgaria offer as serious impediments to active operations as the snows of winter to any operations at all in the Balkan range, and the prospect now seems to be that no further attempt will be made by them to push southward until the opening of the spring.

THAT UNGRACIOUS ACT. Some of the Virginia press have critcised very severely the action of the Secretary of War in refusing to turn over the barracks in this city to Governor Vance for the use of the State troops at the approaching Fair. The Norfolk Landmark characterized it very fitly as a most "ungracious act." The Petersburg Index-Appeal thinks the act still more ungracious when it is considered that this property, or the ground upon which it stands, belongs of right to the State of North Carolina, and that the United States Government refuses to pay rent for it or come to any other settlement in regard to it. The Index-

Appeal adds: We should think a small bill introduced in the next Congress would have a sense of his duty in the premises. There could be no question of its passsage by the House, and the administration Senators would probably think twice before they defeated it in their upper chamber. The matter is rather a small one, but it might be as well for the Southern Senators and members to the very first, that in small matters as well as great, they stend to depend and exact full justice for the people of their section. The veres of Southern Senators may become very valuable to Mr. Hayes, if the Blaine and Conkling coalition acquires a heavy following in the Senate. Let moderate Republicans come forward, then, and prevent the infliction of wrong on the South. Then will all good men, of whatever section or party, be prepared to act together and defeat the extremists on the basis of reform; of equity and charity to all, and of oblivion of the differences of the buried past.

KENTUCKY VIEW OF PRES-

IDENT HAYES. On the occasion of the visit of President Hayes to Louisville, Kentucky, the Courier-Journal, than which there is no truer nor abler exponent of Democrrtic sentiment in the Union, gave expression to the following views: There is food for reflection in the oceasion and the arrangements. The day which brings us, as an honored guest, one who a little while ago was regarded by a large majority of the community as a public enemy may be described, without rhetorical flourish, as full of a happy and hopeful significance. Mr. Hayes crosses the line of what has been a border land, bearing not merely the olive branch, but the ripening fruit of the divine emblem of peace. He comes, not as his party in times gone by has too often come, preceded by the wrinkled front of war and uttering words of menace, but as a friend, speaking words of kindly cheer. There is no fear aeywhere that the grass will wither beneath his feet. In room of dark faces, and darker forebodings, there are welcomes on every hand; old feuds are forgotten; party differences are ignored, to such a degree, that the political associates of the hero of the rejoicing have, of their own accord, passed to the rear of the cavalcade. pressing upon this gallant soldier of the Uuion, an escort composed of the battle-scarred veterans of the Confederacy. Indeed, the dream of Lincoln has come to pass! The mystic chords of memory, touched by the angels of our better nature, stretching over every battle-field and every patriot-grave to every loving heart and hearthstone throughout the land, swell again, as they did in days of yore, the music of the Union. There is once more meaning in the flags that float from staff and steeple, window-sill and turret. And, as if to consecrate the scene, and give assurance of the future, these signs and tokens of real peace are attended by material guarantees; the season presents an unexampled harvest; the barns are bursting;

"The sun shines bright in the old Kentucky And so, blessings as well as misfortunes never come singly, God be praised! Why is it? What has wrought the change? Less than a year ago another man, and that the competitor of Mr. Hayes, absorbed the enthuiassm of the people. Events, baffling and disappointing a great hope of the people, and arrayed about the person of Mr. Hayes, have come to pass. "Yet," the cynic will say, "behold the fickleness of the mob; see how it displaces its idols; mark how the altar of to-day becomes the block of to-morrow." It is not so.

The people are always right. They are bles over his own small leanings and little conceits, mistaking alike the wisdom and generosity of the people.

Usually the people know clearly what they want and their wants are rarely mean and paltry. Only when they are excited, and then but for a season, are they are excited, and they wants. In the long run they seriously unjust. In the long run, they see things as they are, judging men not unkindly. A year ago Mr. Tilden represented their aspirations and their needs. All, they expected with him; nothing with Mr. llayes. To-day, the conditions, not anything else or any-body else, are altered. Mr. Tilden is not upon the scene. Mr. Hayes is not merely upon the scene, but he offers the people precisely what they sought un-der Mr. Tilden. Nay, he has given hostages of his good faith, and, having the power to influence a real revolution in the public policy and in public opinion, he is, for the time being, a repre sentative of the people's wish and want. It is a maxim in diplomacy that governments can not be grateful. No more can peoples wait. They can not afford to reject a good administration; and they never will reject it as long as it is true to their instincts and interests.

Thus the people have accepted Mr. Hayes. It is not, speaking in a party sense, that they love the Democratic party less, but that they love their country more. It is not that, speaking in a personal sense, they are false to Mr. Tilden, but that they are true to their conception of existing facts, which, being equally true to their geniality and common sense, they realize with-out whining. It is the national charac-teristic, the guarantee of free in-stitutions the Englishman glowered, schemed and rebelled for centuries before he settled into an obdurate conservative. The Frenchman shrugs his shoulder, plots and revolts whenever the government does not go to suit him. It is the American who, having his be-loved stump to stand on, and his be-loved organ to print his speeches, soothes himself by swearing at the figures and submitting to the result, hop-ing, in the end, to profit by his adapta-bility and make the best of a bad bargain. Assuredly, in Mr. Hayes those who voted against him have had a most unlooked-for bargain, for, if blessed in nothing else, they were blessed in ex-pecting nothing of him. In lieu of this they have had thus far an administration which has done for them what they could not have done for themselves, and done it in a way which has contributed to the peace, the glory and the prosperity of the country. To make opposition merely because it is Hayes instead of Tilden would be more than factious: it would be absurd, and therefore—to make a long story short—the PEOPLE, forgetful of party for the moment, see in the man whom we are to greet to-day an embodiment of them-

Aside from this, the President is a representative Northern soldier, a typical Northern man, who at home in Ohio and in the midst of a heated political contest is described by the bitterest of his political opponents* as "a gentleman and honest man, a good neighbor and a good friend." H comes here in quest of nothing but good will. The South wants to be at peace with the North. It wants to cultivate friendly relations of every sort. It sees in Mr. Hayes' outstretched hands the chance, not to join the Republican party, but to show by its cordiality that it is neither so soured nor so stubborn as sectional partisans, on both sides, would have it appear. So, speaking through the agency of its frontier metropolis, echoing the President's own hope that all bor-der-lines may be abolished and forgotten hereafter, it welcomes him heartily and hids him smake himself at home. Kentuck joins the South in this greet-So, with these words of explanation, "all hands round," let the flags wave and the bands play, leaving

"Those to sulk who choose to sulk, And those to sing who may."

*The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Revenged at Last.

Charlotte Observer.1 In Rufus Lowrance's statement of the killing of Hunsucker, published in full in yesterday morning's Observer, it will be remembered that it was stated that the arrest of Lowrance in Charleston was made upon information given by one Peter F. Davidson, a colored man, originally from North Carolina. This brings to light a singular case of retri-bution for an injury inflicted years before. Several years after the war, at the time when the excitement concerning the ku-klux was at its height in this part of the country, this man Peter F. Davidson was holding a prayer meeting one Sunday night, near Davidson College, and praying in very loud tones. When in the midst of his prayer, a pistol was inserted in one of the cracks by an invisible hand, and old Peter was shot. By some means it was discovered that the perpetrator of this vile deed was Rufe Lowrance, who then lived at Davidson College. Rufus was ac-cordingly arrested and the regular steps for his trial by the proper authorities were taken. But in the time intervening between this occurrence and the following term of the court, Republicans began to charge that Lowrance, being a reckless character, had been hired by Democrat-ic ku-klux to commit the deed, and the Democrats charged in turn that Republicans had hired him to do it for the purpose of bringing reproach and con-demnation upon the members of the kuklux organization. The trial finally came off, and Lowrance was by some

The Losses by the Pittsburg

The Pittsburg (Pa.) Post says that under the adjusting plan of ascertaining losses by the riots, similar to that of insurance companies, it is believed the final awards will not vary much from these figures: Railroad company, $1,500,-000; freight destroyed, $1,000,000; elevator $150,000; Keystone Hotel company, $100,000; Pullman Car Company, $80,000; private individuals, $100,000; total, $2,930,000.

The Richmond (Va.) Dispatch deem 8 it worthy of note that Hon. T. S. Bocock, Chairman of the Virginia delegation in the St. Louis Convention, is to make a speech of welcome to President Hayes in Lynchburg, and Judge John A Meredith, Chairman of the Committee, on the Platform in the same Convention, is to welcome President Hayes to Richmond.

Garibaldi has advised the demolition of the famous old Castle St. Angelo, which commands the bridge of the same name over the Tiber at Rome. It was formerly used as a Papal fortress, but since 1870 the secular authorities have held it with only a corporal's guard for firing off the traditional midday gun.

"The Bashi-Bazouks are wild beasts!" exclaimed the Grand Duke Nicholas, when an envoy from Mehemet Ali's camp opened negotiations with him concerning the treatment of the Bulgarian population. "Oh!" was the response, "I am not expected to defend them. I always take an escort myself when I must pass through their camp. General Grant is bitterly attacked by a correspondent of the Dublin Freeman. who urges leading Catholics to stand aloof from his reception, because he publicly insulted the Irish nation by refusing to accept its congratulatory address; because he spoke so much about "priestly influence" and "priest; ' in education, in his message of 1875, and because he has expressed his anxiety to see and shake hands with Garibaldi.

The Richmond (Va.) Whig prints a "I send communication which reads: you a Confederate bond of $1,000. wish you would give it to the editor of the Dispatch and ask him if he can make it good for taxes. If he can, am in favor of paying the State debt as settled by the Funding bill. We peo ple of Roanoke think that the bond holders of State bonds ought to be willing to lose one-half of their bonds, as we poor widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers have to lose all our bonds and other property besides."

General Forrest, whose serious illness has been reported, is fifty-six years of age. His life has been one wherein he became inured to exposure, and this gave him a confidence in his powers of physical endurance which, perhaps, was unfortunate. The consequence has been an exposure during late years which must bave been most trying. On his plantation on President's Island he has given his farm work his strict attention. Often till 11 o'clock he would be out in the poisonous night air seeing to his stock A perfect bundle of energy, he gave to everything his personal supervision. The result is he now lies a man on the verge of the shattered

A Dare-Devil General. [New York Tribune.]

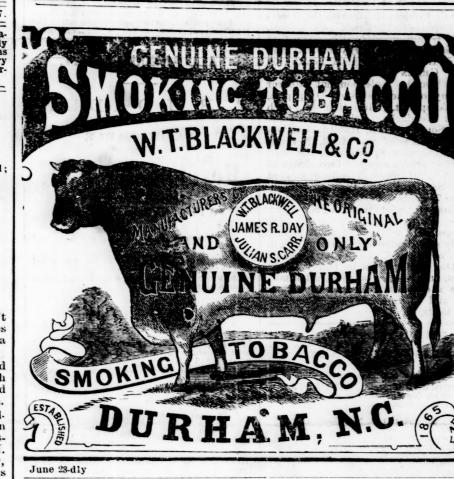

Daredevil Skobeleff, who blames nobody, but accepts defeat as the "will of God," is the most popular of the Russian heroes. His force was on the extreme left of Schakoffski's division in the first disastrous attack upon Plevna. When his battallion of infantry was under the first fire of the twelve guns de-fending that portion of the Turkish line, the soldiers shouted, "Charge!" and began rushing forward. Skobeleff or-dered a halt; lines were formed with the precision of a dress-parade and the command was given, "Carry arms!" "Present arms!" When the line was at a "Present," the shells began to fall among them. Skobeleff then asked them if they did not think "they presented a ridiculous spectacle in that position under fire." They replied that they did. Then he assured them that he would keep them there until the next day unless they promised to keep order in the ranks and await the command of their officers, instead of yelling and charging on their own account. The men assured him that they saw the force of his remarks. They were then led forward, and behaved splendidly dur-ing the whole action. This brings to mind the iron-handed discipline of Catherine's terrible Marshals, who opened their batteries upon their own soldiers when they were wavering in the charge, and drummed their Generals out of the camp when they ventured to suggest a retreat.

The President and the South. (Baltimore Sun.)

A gentleman just arrived from Richmond saw en route Gen. Joseph E. Johnson. Gen. Johnson, in conversation on the political situation, said that the prevailing opinion in the South, in which he fully concurred, was that it was a lucky thing for that section that they got Hayes instead of Tilden, that the former, as a republican, had done so much more than the latter, as a democrat, could have done, in allaying the feverish and bitter spirit engendered by the war. The gentleman also says that there is the greatest interest taken in Richmond over the anticipated visit of President Hayes to that city next month, and that the demonstration over him is expected to exceed anything since the visit of Lafayette. The address of welcome to the President at Lynchburg will be delivered by the Hon. Thos. S. Bocock, Speaker of the House of Representatives before the war.

The Farmville Insurance and Banking Company,

We yesterday published a statement in regard to this company on the authority of a gentleman who lost by fire in Enfield last Spring. We have a statement on the other side from a responsible representative of the company, to-day which we give below:

From the statement it appears that the difficulty in regard to an adjustment of these Enfield claims is, that no satisfactory agreement has been arrived at between the parties interested. There is no question of the ability of the company to pay its losses; the claims are larger than the company are willing to allow, and hence the parties have brought suit to recover. The company has a large business in this State and could ill afford to refuse the payment of losses without good and sufficient reasons. They have paid several thousand dollars through their Agents in North Carolina since the fire Enfield, and are able and willing to meet all fair and equitable claims whenever called upon to de so.

There are always two sides to ever question and as the News professes to be impartial in its course, we are ready at all times to give any explanation the Company may have to offer in answer to damaging charges.

Raleigh Light Artillery.

This Company has met with various obstacles in completing its organization, owing to the pressure of other duties on its officers, preventing them giving the necessary time and attention to drill, &c. At a meeting last night Capt. C. H. Scott resigned as Captain of the company and 3rd Lieut. A. A. Beavers was elected to fill the vacancy. Capt. Beavers will prove an efficient officer and will soon have his company in the best military trim. Several new names were added to the roll last night, and the best spirit prevails among the members of the company. All the paraphernalia of an artillery company will soon be in readiness for use, and the company expect to be ready to take part in the military display at the State Fair.

TO THE PUBLIC,

The publication in the NEWS of this city with regard to the management of my office during the fiscal year ending April 30th, 1877, uncontradicted and unexplained would tend to create the inpression that I had been a defaulter to the city government. The item unpaid taxes $7,096.34 consisted of such taxes as were on the 1st day of May 1877 due and unpaid. Of which amount I had been en joined from the collection of $503.55. Of the balance where the taxes were exclusively a tax upon land I have advertised and sold the land and made due report to the Board of Aldermen. Where the taxes were either in whole or part upon personal property I postponed the levy and sale of such peronal property until the last of October 1877. The reason for this difference was this. At the time the taxes became past due and from that time until now noney has been so scarce that it was impossible for the people to pay these taxes, and I made this delay until the last of October, because by that time enough cotton would be sold to make money easier. I sold the land according to the charter because that could be redeemed within twelve months. I declinea to sell the personal property before the date mentioned above because such sale would carry title witnout right of redemption, and in the majority of cases would have necessitated the seizure and sale of the beds and bed clothing and household furniture of our poorest citizens.

Of this I have collected since the 1st day of May and up to citizens who had not the money with which to pay, and who begged me not to report them as unpaid or to advertise their property for sale, and who promised to pay the money to me when demanded. I did this in every instance where it was requested of me, without regard to the ribes or power, who even color, or politics of the person asking it. I marked such taxes "paid," made out the receipts to the party and retained them as my security. In doubtful cases of attendance, the average number decides the question. The amount appropriated larger num bers, in cities, cannot be fixed, but must depend on circumstances. The people are to pay for current expenses at least twice as much as they receive from the fund, and in addition thereto bear all the expenses of erecting, repairing and furnishing school houses. They are to grade their schools and provide a teacher for every fifty pupils. No claim for a share of the fund can be admitted where a special contract has not been previously made. Compliance with the "Rules" does not constitute a claim. The application must be made by the School Committee and Trustees (if Trustees for the school exist) to the State Superintendent, giving assurances that the rules will be complied with. The application must be accepted by the General Agent, Dr. Sears, and written promise made by him to the Superintendent, and through the Superintendent to the applicants, to pay a stated sum. Then a claim is constituted, and not till then. Applications for aid should be made as early as practicable after the beginning of the school year, September first, and forwarded to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Raleigh, N. C. Each application must show upon its with the average daily attendance 3. The amount of assured fund for current expenses, and the sources from which such fund is derived. 4. That the school is to be graded, stating the number of grades and branches taught in each.

5. The location of school house, with the names of the Principal and Assistant Teachers, and the nearest post 6. The amount of the Peabody Fund applied for, and that the amount sub-

EXTRACTS FROM A PRIVATE LETTER FROM DR. SEARS, DATED STAUNTON,

VA., AUGUST 10, 1877. "Our aim is not to keep a few public schools alive, but to encourage such a State system of instruction as the people will come to respect and foster. * * * When the State does little, we do little; when it does much, we do much. * Then you can select from all the applications made to you those that hold out the promise of doing most good by strengthening the whole system of schools. * * We must select those which will be in all respects permanent model schools. Mere numbers of pu-pils will not be enough. They should be well graded, well taught and well accommodated, so as to win the respect of good citizens. * We must so else vate the character of the schools that they shall be a credit to the State. For this reason we must begin with towns and large villages, where we can find the means of making the schools what they should be. * * Hundreds of loose, feeble schools will fail to lift up the system into respectability. We must, as far as possible, act on public sentiment through good schools in influential places. * * * A system of schools is not so much a creation as a growth. A moderate-number of good schools dotted all over the State will do much to promote such growth. With these general hints you will be able to interpret our circulars properly.' The above extracts are given that those applying, or expecting to apply for aid, may know what the aims of those managing the Peabody Fund are, so that they may act in accordance there-

Let the reople and the school officers take hold of the schools and make them such as Dr. Sears desires. Then North Carolina will be sure to get her ful share of the benefits of the Fund.
